(Do not write above this line.)
In the Matter of:		Case Number(s):
Nolo Contender	e Plea Stipulations to Facts,	Conclusions of Law, and Disposition
	g nolo contendere are set forth in th te Bar. The applicable provisions a	e Business and Professions Code and the Rules of re set forth below:
Business and Pro	fessions Code § 6085.5 Disciplina	ary Charges; Pleas to Allegations
	ds of pleas to the allegations of a needing against an attorney:	otice of disciplinary charges or other pleading which initiates
(a) Admission of c	ulpability.
(b) Denial of culpa	bility.
(c) Nolo contendere, subject to the approval of the State Bar Court. The court shall ascertain whether the membe completely understands that a plea of nolo contendere will be considered the same as an admission of culpability and that, upon a plea of nolo contendere, the court will find the attorney culpable. The legal effect of such a plea will be the same as that of an admission of culpability for all purposes, except that the plea and any admissions required by the court during any inquiry it makes as to the voluntariness of, or the factual basis for, the pleas, may not be used against the attorney as an admission in any civil suit based upon or growing out of the act upon which the disciplinary proceeding is based.
Rules of Procedure of the State Bar, rule 5.56. Stipulations to Facts, Conclusions of Law, and Disposition
"(A) Contents. [ ¶] [¶]	A proposed stipulation to facts, conc	lusions of law, and disposition must comprise:
 (5) a statement that the attorney either: (a) admits the truth of the facts comprising the stipulation and admits culpability for misconduct; or (b) pleads nolo contendere to those facts and misconduct;
 [¶] [¶] (B) Plea of NoIo Contendere. If the attorney pleads nolo contendere, the stipulation must also show that the attorney understands that the plea is treated as an admission of the stipulated facts and an admission of culpability."
section 6085.5 and ruforth in this stipulation	ule 5.56 of the Rules of Procedure of	pplicable provisions of Business and Professions Code f the State Bar. I plead nolo contendere to the charges set my plea will be considered the same as an admission of Code section 6085.5(c).
Date	Respondent's Signature	Print Name